Freinet training – eagles don't climb stairs – 2025-2027

Free expression

Experience the power of free expression and how it can benefit you.

In this module, you will discover the diversity of your creative potential. Free expression transforms learning from the very beginning: space is created for individual and collective expression.

Develop yourself in creative activity, related to all research and learning topics. The strengths and inner richness of each person become visible.

Mind, heart and hand in harmony.

Leave the practice rooms

Learn in life.

In this experiential module, a joyful spirit of discovery emerges. Let yourself be inspired by the diversity of an unfamiliar environment. The abundance of learning stimuli in the city and nature will fuel your curiosity as a researcher.

Tap into the knowledge of experts and explore new paths. Be an active part of your group. Share and celebrate your learning experiences in the unique atmosphere of the jungle-like landscape surrounding the UNESCO World Natural Heritage Site, Kellerwald National Park.

Bravely expand your comfort zone.

Diversity

Recognise diversity as variety.

This module builds a bridge between individuality and community. Explore new methods for handling challenging situations in your educational practice.

Recognize the diversity in the demands of inclusion, refugees, and more. Experience the impact of interest- and project-based learning at your own pace. Discover how every individual can feel safe and valued within the community.

The totality is more than the sum of its parts.

Democracy

Let the children speak.

This approach is consistently followed in the module. Experience firsthand what it means to have the word in your hands and take responsibility for shaping your own learning processes.

Together we promote democratic awareness and action. Exercise your right to participate while also being considerate of others. Your self-confidence will be strengthened through cooperative working, communication, and social interaction.

Experiencing democracy enables action.

Natural method

Give space to what you want to learn.

In this module, become a researcher and explore the method of exploratory experimentation. Here, you will find the time and opportunity to fully dedicate yourself to your greatest learning aspiration. Anything is possible.

Embrace detours and failures as necessary steps for growth. Your natural joy of learning will remain alive. Reflect on your personal learning culture and share your experiences with the group.

Questions are the key to successful learning.

Show accomplishments

Unfold freely, without performance pressure.

In this module, you can showcase your accomplishments in a different way. Become an expert in a respectful feedback culture. Experiment with new presentation formats and integrate them into your educational practice.

In your personal Livre de vie, you will preserve the gems from two years of training. Return to your personal and professional life strengthened and full of great ideas. Share what you've learned with joy.

Eagles don't climb stairs

Through the Freinet training, I have found my pedagogical home.

These valuable experiences have enriched not only my professional life but also my personal life.

I have grown beyond myself and found my inner balance.
